Richeson is nearing a nervous breakdown. Would it not be well to send him to the bawths at Carlsbad to regain his health?

The Kaiser "trusted my people will give me a birthday present of such a Reichstag as will enable me still further to strengthen the army and navy."

Whereupon the Kaiser's very own people got together and elected Socialists, in favor of abolition of standing army.

These are sorry days for the person who still talks about "my people."

Carnegie got check for $28.50 for services as witness before the Stanley committee. And that's just about what his testimony was worth, too.

Andy also says that he understands steel workers "prefer" twelve-hour day to eight-hour one.

Strange that they should do anything so peculiar when Steel Trust gives them all of 20 cents an hour!

"A nounce of performance is worth a ton of talk."—Harmon. Perform, Jud, perform.

George Abeel, wealthy New Yorker, was held up and robbed by footpads on a Wter street in broad daylight. When bystanders wanted to interfere, man with what looked like a camera, shouted "Cheese it, you'll spoil the picture."

* * * * * * NEW FAD TO SHOW * * JEWELS * * * * * *

BY UNDERWOOD + UNDERWOOD

Many fashionable women no longer wear gloves which hide her stunning rings. The new fad is a muff big enough to admit bare hands and arms, so when making a call my lady may show off her jewels.
